CANTON AND COUNTY.

The Jury's Verdict in the Shull Damage Case.

THE SNYDER-ALBRIGHT COSTS.

Action to Secure Payment Begun by Peter Albright's Administrator—The City of Canton Sued—Items of News From the Probate Court.

CANTON, June 25.—R. W. McCaughey, as administrator of the estate of Peter G. Albright, of Massillon, began action in court Thursday afternoon to recover costs in the Snyder-Albright case. In addition to F. Edward Snyder, C. F. Snyder, Mary L. Snyder and C. E. Oberlin are named as defendants. The petition avers that in 1892 Mr. Albright secured judgment against F. Edward Snyder for costs amounting to $244.90, and that the amount is yet unpaid. The plaintiff further claims that Mr. Snyder is now not an owner of property upon which a levy can be made, but since the decree, in 1892, has disposed of portions of a lot to Mary L. Snyder and Charles E. Oberlin. McCaughey prays, therefore, that the judgment may stand, and the same be held valid as a lien on the premises referred to, and that Mary L. and C. F. Snyder and C. E. Oberlin be required to set forth their respective claims and interests in said premises, that an account may be taken of the amount due on the judgment, also that the premises be ordered sold to satisfy the Albright claim.

Elizabeth Stonehill is in possession of a promissory note given by George and Alice M. Rex and has brought suit to recover payment. A like proceeding has been begun by John Birrer against Emanuel Kessler. The amount involved is $1,606. A verdict for the defense was returned by the jury Thursday afternoon, in the case of Shull's administrator vs. the city of Canton. Suit was brought to recover damages in the sum of $20,000.

Herman P. Hahn, by his next friend, Peter Hahn, has sued the city of Canton to recover damages in the sum of $5,000, for personal injuries. Herman Hahn, it is alleged, received permanent injuries by falling into a ditch.

A motion requiring new bond has been filed in the estate of John Slagle, of Paris township. Private sale of chattel property has been ordered in the assignment of Dayton Marshal, of Sugarcreek township. Distribution of proceeds of sale of real estate has been ordered in the estate of Francis Cassidy, of Lawrence township. The seventh partial account has been filed in the guardianship of John C. Grind, of Marlboro township. In the assignment of Leander D. Wallace, of Washington township, a petition to sell land and adjust liens has been filed. A petition to sell ward's real estate has been filed by the guardian of Mary Capieus, of Sandy township.

Marriage licenses have been granted to Charles W. Downey and Elda M. Weimer, of Beach City, and John Alfred Camp and Emma Caroline Numan, and John E. Purkey and Effie McMacken, of Canton.

Other Items of General Interest From the County Seat.

CANTON, June 24.—The $20,000 damage suit of Hull's administrator vs. the City of Canton is being heard by Judge McCarty and a jury. Mr. Hull was operating a traction engine which crashed through a bridge on Linden avenue, and he received injuries which resulted in his death. The case of Ohio vs. Turenne Getz, of Massillon, has been continued to the next term of court. The Cruttenden-Massillon Bridge Company damage case has gone over to the assignment for next week.

A motion for a new trial has been made in the damage case of Louisa W. Rundt's administrator vs. the Pennsylvania Railway Company on the ground that the verdict is not sustained by and against the evidence offered, and that the court erred in its charge to the jury. The jury recently returned a verdict for the defendant company.

Menches Bros., conducting a saloon and restaurant in Canton, assigned on Wednesday evening to Peter J. Collins. The assets are estimated at from $1,500 to $2,000; the liabilities are not given. Individual assignments were made later by Frank A. and Charles E. Menches to Peter J. Collins. The assets and liabilities are estimated alike, $2,000.

Sale of real estate has been confirmed and deed ordered in the estate of Francis Cassidy, of Lawrence township. The will of Warrick M. Rogers, of Massillon, has been admitted to probate, the widow accepting its provisions. Louis Monat has been appointed administrator of the estate of Anna Courbat, of Nimishillen township. The will of Jacob C. Unger, of Paris township, has been filed for probate. In the assignment of Roth & Schaffert, of Canton, the assignee has been authorized to compromise or sell desperate claims.

Marriage licenses have been granted to David Von Kanel and Anna Radcliffe, Harry R. Wheaton and Florence V. Johnston, and John A. Lantzer and Mame E. Getz, of Massillon.

"I was troubled with quinsy for five years. Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured me. My wife and child had diphtheria. Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured them. I would not be without it in the house for any consideration." Rev. E. F. Crane, Dunkirk, N. Y.

A HARNESS THIEF.

A supposed thief gave the residents of Wellman street an exciting chase last night and finally succeeded in evading his pursuers. The individual aroused suspicion by sneaking through the alleys with a large bundle in his possession. D. C. Borton and other residents undertook to investigate but the fellow took to his heels. They gave chase and pressed the suspect so hard that he dropped the package which had greatly impeded his flight, and quickly disappeared in the darkness. The bundle contained a lot of harness, an overcoat and a water-proof coat, which proved to be the property of John C. Albright, having been stolen from his barn.

THE REX-DEMUTH CASE.

A Motion Filed for a New Trial by the Rex Attorneys.

ALFRED VAUGHN ARRESTED.

Charged With Being Implicated in the Yeagley Affair—The Paris Township School Board Sues for Damages—The Common Pleas Assignments.

CANTON, June 36.—Alfred Vaughn has been placed under arrest by the Canton police, charged with being implicated in the recent raid upon Farmer Yeagley's premises, near Marlboro, during which thirty fruit trees were destroyed and a horse shot and killed. Vaughn pleaded not guilty to Mayor Rice, and was released to appear on the morning of July 6, on giving bond in the sum of $800. Alfred Vaughn is a brother of Ernest Vaughn, who is now doing time in the workhouse. Mrs. Yeagley was the prosecuting witness, and, it is alleged, Vaughn's brothers swore to be avenged. A few nights ago the Yeagleys' suffered the loss above referred to, and the atrociousness of the crime prompted the county commissioners to offer a reward of $100 for the conviction of the miscreants.

The board of education of Paris township have sued the Pleasant Valley Coal Company to recover damages in the sum of $1,500. They claim that the defendant company neglected to provide proper braces for its mine and a cave-in followed, damaging the school building. David F. Long has petitioned for judgment in the sum of $1,379 against John T. and James A. Rice, constituting the Handy Wagon Company. The sum is alleged to be due as royalty on certain patents.

The common pleas assignment for next week includes forty-one cases, twenty-three of which have been assigned to Judge Taylor and eighteen to Judge McCarty. The Dangeleisen-Frantz case may be heard on Friday by Judge McCarty, while the first case to receive the attention of Judge McCarty will be that of Wardwell's receiver vs. the Canton-Massillon Electric Railway Company.

A motion for a new trial in the Rex-Demuth $20,000 damage case was filed Friday afternoon by the plaintiff's lawyers, Sterling & Werntz. The allegations are that Juror Hissong, for the purpose of influencing other jurors, walked about on June 14 expressing the opinion that Mrs. Rex could not expect to and would not secure judgment, also that they were deprived of an important witness, Mrs. Dora McCurdy, by an accident which prevented her from appearing in court.

A petition for sale of real estate has been filed in the estate of Thomas Stanley, of Alliance...A final account has been filed in the estate of Abraham Kreighbaum, of Plain township...In the assignment of Menches Bros., of Canton, inventory and appraisement have been filed, and the assignee has been ordered to sell at retail or private sale..Petitions to sell real estate have been filed in the estates of Mary Sassaman, of Canton, and Duncan H. McLaughlin, of Massillon..In the estate of John J. Trump, of Canton, executors have been ordered to complete contract with the Harvard company for conveyance of real estate.

WALTER SNYDER'S CASE.

Walter Snyder has been notified by the L. A. W. officers of the withdrawal, in his case, of the privilege of entering league races for the time being. This suspension holds good pending an investigation of certain charges against Mr. Snyder, which arose through his professing willingness to race a horse at Canal Dover, recently, and which, if a wager of money was made, is contrary to the laws of the league. Complaint, it seems, was made from Canton, presumably by a person or persons who may aspire to the Stark county championship and who, of course, could not hope to win with Snyder in the field.

Mr. Snyder did not start at Canal Dover, however, and was given to understand that the race was to have been for sport only, and that no wager of money had been made. It is fully expected that a satisfactory explanation will right matters.

A Remarkable Wheat Crop.

KNOXVILLE, June 26.—[By Associated Press]—The most remarkable wheat crop ever known is being harvested in East Tennessee. There is an unusually large acreage and the yield is enormous Six thousand bushels are already sold at 90 cents, but pending quotations are 68 to 70. The last opening was 60.

A HUGE YELLOW SNAKE.

IT WAS FULLY TWO YARDS LONG.

The Child is Rescued by Mrs. Mader, Who Leaps Over a Fence and Annihilates the Snake With a Garden Hoe—Other Snakes in the Neighborhood.

Just like a boy of one and one-half years, Blanchard Fals now prates and crows about something that happened to him the other day, as though it had all been gotten up for his especial amusement. But his mother, Mrs. Joseph Fals, remembers that for a long time afterward he would not eat and acted as strangely as one under a spell, and she takes precious good care now that he never gets beyond her sight.

It was just about noon and Mrs. Fals was attending to some household duties, when in dashed her 3-year-old son Per Lee who shouted: "Mamma, mamma, come quick, there's a big snake after baby!" Mrs. Fals flew to the rear door, and just a few feet distant she saw her darling boy sitting almost within reach of a huge, hideous yellow snake that was slowly swaying its head and neck, each moment drawing nearer to the child, in such a way as to fill him with wonder and make him oblivious to all else. The reptile was coiled as though about to spring, its forked tongue protruding from its ugly mouth, from which it was rapidly emitting venom.

Sick with horror, the mother ran shrieking to a window, and using almost the same words as her son had a minute previous, she called to Mrs. Wm. Mader, who with a garden hoe in her hand, leaped over the fence between the two properties to the rescue. Taking in the situation at a glance, she hesitated not, but lifting the child in her arm, dealt the snake a blow with the hoe that sent it scurrying away. Handing the boy to his mother, she pursued the reptile, striking it again and again until it disappeared beneath the porch.

When Mr. Fals arrived at his Park street residence that evening and heard of the occurrence, he at once tore up the floor of the porch and did everything else to find the snake, but without success. Since then James Fitzgerald, who resides in Duncan street nearby, has killed a snake, but it was only about three feet long, and as Mrs. Fals is positive that the one she saw was fully two yards in length and as big around as her wrist, they could not have been the same.

So many snakes have been killed in Park street and vicinity lately that many of the residents hardly feel safe in their own homes and a few of the more timid admit that they experience a strange quaking when they pass the stone pile, at the southern extremity of the street, for here, it is said, live whole families of snakes, and their rattling at times can be distinctly heard a considerable distance away.

John Weber, who is a stone mason and resides in Summit street, has assisted in the erection of some cellar walls in that vicinity recently. He was called upon one day to lay low a snake that was about to fasten its fangs in the leg of his horse, which he allowed to run at large while he worked. Now great running sores have broken out on his horse on various parts of its body. "And I blame nothing but those snakes," said he, "for that hollow must be full of them. I used to hear them rattling and hissing, but I only killed one, but if I had known they were going to treat my horse so, you bet I would have gotten after them properly."

OBITUARY NOTICE.

JOHN EVANS.

John Evans passed quietly away at 5 o'clock Thursday evening. For four years he had suffered more or less with diabetes, but the immediate cause of death was meningitis, a disease of the brain.

The funeral services will be held at his late residence, north of the rolling mill, at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Mr. Evans was a native of Llanbister, Wales, where he was born in 1831. He learned the trade of puddler, and when 26 years of age immigrated to this country. He located first in Philadelphia, later went to Girard, and seventeen years ago came to Massillon and was made foreman of the puddling department of the local mill, which position he efficiently filled until two weeks ago, when he was taken ill.

With his family, Mr. Evans took up his residence in the home provided for him by the rolling mill company, about a hundred yards north of the works, and had lived there continuously for sixteen years. He seldom left his home, except to go to work, and lived happily and contentedly with his wife and daughter, Mrs. Anna Richards. The last time he was down town was on election day, when, as was his invariable custom, he voted the straight Republican ticket.

He was of the Methodist faith and services were frequently held at his home, usually in the Welsh language.

Building Permits Issued.

Charles E. Oberlin and David B. Reed have been issued building permits by City Clerk Haring. Mr. Oberlin will erect a brick building, 24 x 30 feet, in Park street, the cost of which will be about $1,500. Mr. Reed will have completed by Oct. 24, a frame building in Main street of the value of $4,500. It will be 37 x 64 feet.

A HOME WEDDING.

The Marriage of Miss Flora V. Johnston and Mr. Harry R. Wheaton.

Miss Flora Viola Johnston and Mr. Harry R. Wheaton, of Cleveland, were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Johnston, at the corner of North and Hill streets, at high noon, Thursday, the Rev. Dr. George B. Smith officiating. The groom, his best man, W. A. Greenlund, of Cleveland, and the bridesmaid, Miss Pearl Johnston, of Elyria, preceded the bride, who entered the room where the ceremony took place on the arm of her father. The wedding march was the "Whisperings of Love," played by Misses Zorah Miller and Minnie Goehler. The bride wore a gown of white silk trimmed with lace and ribbons, and the bridesmaid wore pink organdie and white.

Two tables were spread, one for the bridal party and another for the guests, and a most delicious lunch was served, Mrs. Dobson having things in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheaton will remain in Massillon until Saturday noon, when they will leave for Millersburg to visit relatives, returning to Massillon in time to make preparations for leaving Monday for San Francisco and other points in the West. They will return in August and will reside in Cleveland.

THE NEXT COUNTY FAIR.

The Management Promises Unusual Features.

The Stark county fair of 1897 promises to be of unusual interest. Arrangements have already been made for a number of special attractions and the premiums awarded for these features will all go to the patrons of the fair. No money will be expended for foreign attractions The purpose of the management is to have something of interest on the track all day, forenoon and afternoon, for three days. There will be plenty of fun on children's day for little folks and for big folks. There will be a fox chase for the boys. The plan is to release the fox in the enclosure about the track and let one boy from each school district join in the chase. Then there will be a running race for mules, and a trotting race for horses of the county that have never been tracked for a race. The educational exhibit and programme, we believe, will surpass all former efforts in this department. There will be the usual parade of horses and cattle entered for premiums and races for the second day.

On the third day, Thursday, the forenoon will be devoted to an exhibition of teams and single driving horses by townships and the three cities, Canton, Massillon and Alliance, each separate, and then a general round up for the best team and single driver selected from the winners in the township and city contests. The premiums for these various contests will be announced later.

Exhibition drills of uniformed organizations, civic or military, are contemplated for the forenoon of Friday, the closing day of the fair. The secretary solicits correspondence with all organizations and societies that desire to enter for such exhibition. No effort will be spared to make the fair a pronounced success in all of its departments. Stark is one of the foremost agricultural counties in the United States, and with a full exhibit of its varied resources the fair of 1897 will be made so attractive and instructive that none can afford to stay away.

J. H. LEHMAN,
Secretary.

MASSILLON HORSES WON.

The Interesting Events at the Thursday Matinee.

Although but about 300 persons were in attendance at the matinee races conducted at the Stark county fair grounds on Thursday afternoon, the events were interesting and heartily enjoyed. The features of the day were the races in which the horse of H. F. Pocock, of Massillon, were victorious. The match race between J. R. and Chimes Boy, the latter horse being owned and driven by Mr. Murford, of Canton, while Mr. Pocock handled J. R., was the last on the programme. J. R. won the first heat in 2:22, but broke in the second, and Chimes Bay passed under the wire in advance in 2:38. The third heat was secured by J. R., who clearly displayed his superior qualities. The time of this heat was 2:24¼. Five heats were scheduled, but Mr. Murford declined to continue.

The road race between Mr. Pocock's Chattie C. and McKinley attracted much attention and was easily won, Mr. Pocock securing the two first heats. Time 2:29½ and 2:29¼.

Will Wrestle in Lorain.

Otto Clever, of this city, will go to Lorain on July 3, to meet W. R. Faustman, whom he agrees to throw three times in an hour, or forfeit the match. If Faustman wins one fall, Clever is defeated. The winner takes the gate receipts. Clever is to weigh less than 145 pounds, and his opponent 112 pounds. The articles of agreement, which have been signed, bar the strangle hold, and say that the referee shall be chosen on the night of the match, which is to take place in a twenty foot ring.

THE END IS AT HAND.

Work on the Tariff to be Finished by Wednesday.

TAX ON BANK NOTES ABANDONED.

No Change to be Made in the Tariff on Beer and on Tobacco—But an Increased Duty on Tea May be Necessary to Bring Up the Revenue.

[By Associated Press to THE INDEPENDENT.]

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The Republican tariff managers are very hopeful of being able to complete the tariff bill in the Senate by next Wednesday night. The finance committee practically decided to abandon the proposed tax on bank checks and also the proposed increase of 44 cents per barrel on beer, and the change in the tobacco tax; but it is thought the tax on tea may be necessary to bring up the revenue. It is not expected that the bill will be long in conference. Senator Aldrich is expected to return Sunday.

Senator Pettigrew was overcome in the midst of his speech in the Senate this afternoon. Senator Deboe, who is his physician, said it was caused by a blood clot on the brain and is not dangerous except from excitement.

The President sent the following nominations to the senate: Col. C. H. Carlton, 8th cavalry, to be brigader general; Hiram C. Truesdale, Arizona, to be chief justice, and F. M. Doan, Geo. R. Davis and R. E. Sloan, associate justices of the supreme court of Arizona territory.

LATEST FOREIGN NEWS.

GRUMBLINGS ABOUT THE JUBILEE.

LONDON, June 26.—[By Associated Press]—All sorts of grumblings about the jubilee arrangements are being aired by the press. These grumblings come from specultors in seats, disappointed ambitious men who have been expecting special attention or promotion, charity societies who think the Princess of Wales could have served the poor better than by giving them a costly feast, and temperance people who rave because beer was given to the poor. The Queen has received a large number of very costly presents, which are nearly all studded with diamonds. All the chiefs of India sent presents, and the royal family remembered her with costly gifts.

IMPORTANT TELEPHONE MEETING.

The Independent Companies Organize for Mutual Protection.

Manger A. Y. Gordon, of the Farmers' Telephone Company, of this city, returned home yesterday from Detroit, where he attended a convention of the independent telephone companies of the United States, which was in session June 22-24. The object of the meeting was to formulate plans for the independent companies to defend themselves against the Bell Company in case of litigation over the Berliner patent. There was a large attendance, among the number being Judge Taylor, one of the leading lawyers engaged in cases of litigation over telephone patents in Washington during recent years, Judge Savage, of Pennsylvania, Judge Hatch, of Detroit, Judge Thomas, of Chillicothe, Judge Critchfield, of Mt. Vernon, and other eminent lawyers interested in the telephone business. It was the unanimous opinion of the convention that the Berliner patent could not be sustained by the Bell Company.

The manufacturers of telephones and electrical supplies held a meeting at the same time and place, and formed an association for mutual protection.

While in Detroit Mr. Gordon visited the exchange of the Detroit Telephone Company, one of the largest independent companies in this country. As an indication of the magnitude of their business, the switch-board in use is one hundred and eighty-three feet long, with connections for six thousand subscribers, and sixty-five lady operators are employed. The company makes every provision for the comfort of their employes, furnishing them with warm dinners in an elegantly appointed dining room, and in case of illness medical attendance is provided at the expense of the company.

OVERCOME BY THE HEAT.

Alfred Harman's Condition Becomes Alarming on Thursday.

Alfred Harman, a rivet heater at the bridge works, had just strength enough left to carry him to his home at 164 South East street, at noon on Thursday, and arriving there, threw himself upon the outside cellar door and became unconscious. His father, David Harman, had not yet come home, and his mother was unable to carry him into the house. Her son's condition terrified her. His face was almost the color of indigo, and when she laid her hand on his wrist it seemed to her that the pulsations had almost ceased.

Joseph Hug, who drives a meat wagon, arrived soon, and he carried the prostrate boy inside. Dr. Hattery was then summoned, and by proper treatment consciousness was restored by 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Today the young man feels revived, but he has by no means recovered. The physician says that the excessive heat, both while at work and during the walk home, caused his illness.

HEAVY TRAFFIC.

The Business of the C., L. & W. Rapidly Increasing.

The general business of the C., L. & W. railway has increased greatly during the past few months, and now compares favorably with that of any previous year. Agent E. P. Edgar stated today that the heaviest traffic at present is in coal and iron ore. The latter is shipped south from the company's docks on the lakes, while most of the coal is hauled from the southern mines to the lakes. In fact, he said, there is such a demand for cars elsewhere that it is almost impossible to furnish the few cars now needed in the Massillon coal district. Passenger traffic, too, is picking up, and the prospects are more encouraging than they have been for several years.

Russell & Company's shipments are also increasing, for the C., L. & W. company is now taking from three to seven loaded cars from the works daily, while shipments are being made over the Ft. Wayne and W. & L. E. railways.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Clark Elsea's Carriage is Ruined but He is Uninjured.

Clark Elsea, who is employed at the Upper Pigeon Run mine and resides west of Massillon, started for home, this afternoon, with a supply of groceries in a small open vehicle. The horse took fright in West Main street and ran away, throwing its driver from the carriage, which was soon completely demolished by coming in contact with a telephone post at the intersection of Houston street. Flour and other groceries and broken wheels and parts of the vehicle were scattered everywhere. Persons who saw the affair say that Mr. Elsea's escape was miraculous.

A Massillonian Honored.

Harry A. Haring, son of City Clerk J. C. Haring, who is undergoing a classic course at the Western Reserve University, has the distinguished honor of being the first young man of Massillon to whom has been conferred the Phi Beta Kappa degree, which, in the past 130 years has been conferred to but 17,000 men. Mr. Haring's success was generally enjoyed by his classmates and members of the faculty, with whom he is exceedingly popular, and was achieved by his class standing, which, during the past three years, has been the highest. Mr. Haring is acting as secretary to President Thwing, of the University, and is the first pupil to fill this office and win clafs honors. Mr. Haring is attending the Y. M. C. A. convention at Northfield, Mass., this week, to which he was elected as a delegate.

FARMERS' TELEPHONE No. 60.

MONDAY, JUNE 28, 1897

There should be no compromise between the gold Democrats and the Bryanites, who are going to make silver again their issue in this year's campaign. Every Democrat who revolted against the Chicago platform in 1890, must be opposed to the same doctrine now.

A few years ago careful estimates were made as to the number of horses in the world. It was learned that there were over 68,000,000, divided as follows: In Europe 37,000,000; Asia 4,500,000; Africa 1,030,000; America 23,500,000, Australia 2,000,000.

The county auditor has prepared for the secretary of state the annual report of amount expended for relief of indigent soldiers, sailors and marines of Stark county for the year ending June 30, 1897. It shows paid to the soldiers, sailors and marines $5,162.30; wives and widows $5,082 90, and minor children $150.55, a total of $10,396.75

Since the mighty arm of the law has swooped down upon certain refractory members of the bicycling community, who would ride on the side walk in spite of everything and everybody, no further complaints have been heard from timid pedestrians, for whom at one time the joys of earth were dimmed by the uncertainties of life.

Chauncey M Depew recently said at an Ohio dinner in New York: "Only two classes of people live in the United States—those who were born in Ohio and those who wish they had been." Senator Foraker has remarked that "Some men achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them, and some are born in Ohio."

The ticket nominated at Toledo and the platform which has been adopted, can both be heartily endorsed by every Republican in Ohio. Every man on the list has proved himself a staunch member of the Republican forces, and there is not one candidate named who will not add strength to the party and further the chances for a complete victory in November.

The late Democratic county convention can hardly be said to have concluded in the midst of harmony and brotherly love: but the county and city rings have suffered an ignominious defeat, the reform faction has come boldly to the front, and the general public has much for which to be thankful. there was no blood spilled and the walls of the Canton opera house remain intact.

The number of sheep in Australasia is 120,000,000. In the whole world 525,000,000. The yield of wool in Australasia is 675,000,000. The yield in the whole world is 2,400,000,000. Australasia is thus shown to be the most prolific sheep and wool growing country in the world, for, while it owns 20 per cent of the sheep of the world it produces 28 per cent of the whole quantity of wool grown

That political body, known as the Socialists, which enrolls among its numbers representatives from many nations of the earth; after nominating its county ticket, is reported to be about to add an English branch to its organization. This is well -but a casual observer would suggest that an English speaking branch might have been able to get in some good work before the selection of delegates.

The bursts of profanity, which one is forced to hear in the course of a short walk along the sidewalks in the business parts of town, are more noticeable for the voluminousness of their vocabularies than for any great amount of temper accompanying their delivery. It is bad enough for a man to swear when he has lost his temper, and is, in a measure, excusable, but to hear a constant succession of blasphemous epithets used to emphasize the most ordinary, impassive conversation, is disgusting and intolerable.

It was not generally supposed that Cornell would prove the winner of yesterday's boat race, but it is now evident that public favor in general was with the winning crew. The reasons for this are sufficiently plain. Cornell was coached by an American, in an American system of training, and uses an American stroke, while Harvard uses an English stroke entirely and was coached by an Englishman, who was brought over here for the especial purpose. Yale, although coached by an American, uses a stroke which is a modified form of the one used in English universities, so that Cornell's crew appears to be the only one which has stuck to the American's love for things American.

A good deal of editorial facetiousness is being expended upon Eugene Debs and his project of moving one hundred thousand people to Washington territory, there to organize them into a socialistic community, which shall grow and grow into such overwhelming proportions as finally to overthrow the tyrant government of the United States. Mr. Debs is possibly unaware that a number of such societies—on a reduced scale, perhaps have been organized here in Ohio, and that they quietly evaporated and disappeared in the light of early day. Mr. Debs's head may be in the clouds, but he nevertheless points out a way by which the unemployed may go to the kind bosom of mother earth and make themselves independent, self-respecting citizens.

Oregon has hit upon a new expedient to keep her citizens sober. Every man who drinks is obliged to take out a licence costing $5 a year, and unless armed with this document he cannot be served with liquor at any saloon or hotel. Every six months the names of the persons who take out the licences are to be published in the local paper, so that the public may know those who are, and those who are not authorized to drink. This seems to be a good plan, and a particularly fine one to follow in this time of financial disability—when a man would probably look with yearning sadness at a five dollar bill before he expended it upon his six month's licence. The feeling ecstasy caused by seeing his name in print would perhaps, in a measure alleviate his suffering, but even this joy might prove a short-lived one and soon be changed to bitterness and woe.

NOTES OF THE NOTABLES.

Galen Clark, who has been guardian of the Yosemite valley for twenty-four years, has resigned on account of age and infirmities. He will occupy a house in the valley.

Dr. Persifor Frazer, the well known scientist, of the Philadelphia Academy of Sciences, will represent that institution at the international geological congress in St. Petersburg, on August 14.

Alexander Jacobs, the original of Mr. Isaacs, in Marion Crawford's novel, has a great reputation as a prophet, and he recently prophesied that Queen Victoria will live until 1911, that the Prince of Wales will die in 1907, and that Sir William Harcourt will become prime minister in 1898

The Queen's one beauty is the shapeliness of her hands. They are small, white and daintily formed But the slender young woman of 18 who, unaccompanied, met and won the hearts of the august council which came to Kensington to officially notify her of her succession to the throne, has changed to the woman of 78, whose squatty figure and heavy face have become so familiar to the reading world.

UNCLE SAM'S GREAT LAND POSSESSIONS.

"The area of the United States is 3,025,600 square miles, with Alaska it is 3,602,990 square miles, equal to the area of all Europe, with Italy and Turkey excepted," writes William George Jordan on "The Greatest Nation on Earth," in the July Ladies' Home Journal. "Texas, its largest state, is two hundred and twelve times the size of Rhode Island. Texas might invite every man, woman and child now living in the world to settle within its territory, offering each individual a plot of ground forty-nine and a half feet by one hundred feet The state would not be really crowded, for each individual would have four times the space taken by each person in New York city. England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Italy and Portugal could be transplanted to Texas and there would still be room for a good-sized promenade where curious Americans could walk while studying this bit of Europe. Three of the cattle ranches of Texas cover as much territory as the Sandwich Islands, which we were to annex four years ago."

CONVENTION NOTES.

The outcome of the Ohio Republican state convention shows that the party in that state is in a healthy condition and firmly determined not to recede an inch from the principles which were victorious in the nation last fall. The spirited contest over the party management afforded evidence of the general interest felt by the rank and file of the party in its success, and the harmonious outcome gave assurance of a united effort for victory at the polls.—Pittsburg Times.

"The platform is a good one: the ticket is a strong one. The delegates have harmonized their differences, and go to their homes with the determination to enter upon a campaign of complete victory—for the election of Bushnell and the state ticket, for the control of the legislature, and for the return of Senator Hanna to his place in the upper house of congress. And to that programme every true Republican in Ohio says amen!" Toledo Blade.

As for Ohio the signal enthusiasm which marked the assemblage of the Republican state convention yesterday gives promise of an old-time stirring campaign crowned with Republican victory at the end. Ohio Republicans are much given to hot little contests among themselves before the nominations are made This is one of the state's established customs, and no well regulated Ohioan would be willing to dispense with it under any circumstances. But when the preliminary sparring is over and the candidates are placed in the field, Democratic editors almost invariably see their predictions of Republican division shattered completely.—New York Commercial Advertise.

SULLIVAN GIVEN A CHANCE.

Fitz Will Spar Him as a Trial Preceding a Match.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Martin Julian, manager of Bob Fitzsimmons, has made a proposition to Frank Dunn of Boston, manager of John L. Sullivan which was accepted The proposition is that John L. Sullivan and Fitzsimmons meet at Ambrose park, Brooklyn, on the afternoon of July 9, rain or shine, for four or six rounds.

If Sullivan's sparring shall be deemed by the public and sporting writers creditable and indicative of his ability to enter the ring for a finish contest, terms and conditions for such a match may be arranged immediately thereafter. Sullivan will get a share of the gate receipts,

In accepting the proposition Mr. Dunn simply said that, though the time was short, Julian had the call in acting for the holder of the championship and Sullivan would be in the ring at the appointed hour.

The question of adjusting prices will be left to the district officers.

A joint meeting of some leading Ohio coal operators and the officers of the Ohio coal miners is in session here to devise, if possible, a maintenance of a 9-cent differential between Ohio and Pittsburg mining rates. The mining rate here is 51 cents and in Pittsburg 54 cents. Pittsburg has 80 and Ohio 20 per cent of lake trade. Formerly these figures were reversed. The situation is serious, the mining rate must go up in Pittsburg or down in Ohio.

U. S. TROOPS WANTED.

Key West In Hands of a Negro Mob.

PRESIDENT AWAITS INFORMATION.

If Situation Warrants It, Soldiers Stationed There Will Be at Governor's Disposal—A White Man Killed—Attempt to Lynch a Negro.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The request of the governor of Florida for the assistance of the federal troops at Key West has been discussed at a conference at the white house. There were present besides the president Secretary Alger, Attorney General McKenna and General Breck of the army.

The governor of Florida telegraphed President McKinley that a riot is threatened at Key West and asked him that in view of the distance of Key West from the main land and the difficulty of getting state troops to the scene of trouble in time to be of any avail to instruct the commander of the federal troops there to act. The president replied to the governor, citing the law in the case and asking for particulars. Secretary Alger telegraphed to the commandant of the post at Key West asking for telegraphic advices giving the exact situation. The action to be taken will depend upon the response to these inquiries.

KEY WEST, June 26.—This city has been virtually in the hands of a negro mob and a white citizen has been killed by the negroes.

Silvanus Johnson, charged with assault on a white woman, Mrs. Margaret Atwell, was conducted to the courthouse for a hearing. The courtroom was crowded and C. B. Pendleton, a well known citizen, arose and asked: "Are there enough white men present to hang the negro?"

There was a chorus of "yes," and the crowd closed in on the prisoner. The sheriff and his deputies drew their revolvers and held the crowd at bay while Johnson was at once hurried back to jail. A big mob gathered in front of the building and one of the negroes cried out to lynch Pendleton and a rush was made for him. Through the efforts of himself and his friends Pendleton made his escape in a carriage.

The negro mob then gathered again about the jail building to prevent the lynching of Johnson and open threats were made by them to kill any white man that might come to the jail William Gardner, a white man was sitting in front of the courthouse when several of the negro mob approached him and ordered him to move on. He arose to obey, and as soon as his back was turned there rang out the crack of a number of rifles, and Gardner received a mortal wound, from which he died two hours later

The whites are inclined to avenge Gardner's death and another attempt to lynch Johnson is expected. A serious conflict between the whites and the blacks is feared.

NEGROES RIOTING, NOT INDIANS.

U. S. Troops Asked For at Ft. Gibson, In Indian Territory.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Trouble has broken out afresh at Fort Gibson, Indian territory, where the Cherokee freedmen payment has just been resumed, and the Washington authorities have been appealed to for assistance in averting further disorders. News of the disturbance came officially in telegrams received by Secretary Bliss, supplemented by similar advices received by the attorney general and the secretary of war

General Frank C. Armstrong of the Dawes commission, which was just leaving Fort Gibson when the trouble occurred, joined with Indian Inspector McLaughlin, who is supervising the payment, in wiring the following to Secretary Bliss:

"Considerable excitement exists among the negroes on account of arrests made by the United States marshals. Negroes are armed and are threatening to attack the marshal. The troops here are able to cope with the situation and preserve peace. If the commander has not authority to patrol the town and to exercise control over the excited negroes serious trouble may occur

"The presence and action of the military alone prevented bloodshed. The payment has progressed quietly, but those disturbances are outside the lines and are between the negroes and deputy marshals. Prompt and decided action is recommended with authority to remove disorderly persons and disarm all except United States officials."

Clark Lewis Hung.

FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va., June 26.—Clark Lewis has been hanged in public before a large and orderly crowd in a natural grove. The condemned man sang on the scaffold. CHICAGO, June 26.—Wheat opened rather wild and erratic advanced one cent the first ten minutes. However, a lot of long wheat was for sale around 73¼ and caused a sharp reduction. While it is true that statistics show our visible supply of wheat is very low, there are plenty of people who are willing to take their profits around these prices. In September and December we find a loss of confidence in the present prices and are inclined to sell. Receipts in the Northwest 292, against 380 last year. Friday's Market Story.

Lemonade bids fair to become a luxury if the price of lemons continues to advance. Within the last four or five days the price has gone up one dollar a box, which contains 300 lemons, and are now selling at wholesale at $3.75 to $4.75. The retail price has not advanced at all the stores, but that is only a matter of time. "At this time of the year," said a dealer this morning, "there is always a great demand for lemons. The stock this year is controlled by people who have lots of money, and they will keep them if they cannot sell them for what they ask. Before this summer is over lemons will sell for $6 or $7 a box and lemonade will lose its popularity because it will be too expensive."

Bananas are becoming scarce again. They are hard to get at any price, and, as a dealer said this morning, the price is fully 60 cents a bunch higher than it was last year.

Saturday's Market Story.

W. B. Suttle, who has just returned from Harrison county, says that in those parts the hay crop will be almost a failure. In Wayne, Stark and other adjoining counties the crop will be good, and there is a possibility that the farmers of these counties may be called upon to supply their southern neighbors. "The trouble with the hay hereabouts," said Mr. Suttle, "is that there is too much clover in it. Good straight timothy will bring $7 a ton anywhere, but if it is mixed with clover, balers will not pay more than $5."

The raspberry crop will be about 60 per cent. of what it was last year. The canning firm at Beach City is said to have announced its willingness to contract for all the raspberries grown thereabouts at four cents a quart. So the chances are that the Massillon market will have no more than it can carry.

Some grocers are selling things of every day use for less than cost. Among these are sugar and coffee, and a few have strawberries that are about ready to give away.

TRADE STILL GROWING.

Dun Says It Is Gradual, Yet Cautious.

CLOSE MIDSUMMER DON'T RETARD.

The Main Factor at This Time Is the Steadily Brightening Prospect For Crops—Iron and Steel Situation Fair. The Business Failures.

NEW YORK, June 26.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade issued today says: There is no step backward in business, although the season of midsummer quiet is near. Improvement continues, gradual and prudently cautious as before, although in many branches evident where no signs of it appeared a few weeks ago. Business men of the highest standing in all parts of the country, having gradually perceived that the tide has begun to rise, are regulating their contracts and investments and their plans for the future with a confidence quite unknown to them a short time ago. Great changes before the adjournment of congress are hardly to be expected, but removal of uncertainty is with reason expected to bring into operation buying forces which have been restricted for months.

The main factor at this time is the steadily brightening prospect for crops. Harvesting of wheat has already begun in some winter states with surprising good results in the central region and California, so that 800,000 tons is now called the minimum from the latter state, and the statisticians of reliute calculate on 60,000,000 bushels winter wheat beyond the government estimate. Spring wheat is doing remarkably well with a practically unknown increase of acreage. The price has advanced 1½ cents during the week.

Iron and steel products average a small fraction lower in published quotations, but only because private concessions which are now refused were by various authorities complacently concealed two weeks ago. Pigiron is firmer with a better demand at the east and at Chicago, but the impatience of valley furnaces to resume work keeps Bessemer and Grey forge at last week's quotations at Pittsburg. The best of the news is material increase in orders for plates, in part for shipbuilding, in bars for agricultural implement works, in structural shapes for buildings and bridges and in galvanized sheets.

One heavy contract for 300 miles 30- and 100 miles 10-inch pipe, sought by the Australian government for gold regions, excites many hopes in the trade. The great ore producing companies are cutting prices of Mesaba bessemer, Fayal, to $2.10, apparently in order to score the biggest possible business of the year as a basis for future combination. Tin has slowly advanced to 14 cents in spite of heavy arrivals.

Orders for woolens have been rather better than were expected from clothiers and fairly good form dressgoods. Operations in spring goods are still deferred. While mills are somewhat better employed, and are buying to some extent, most of the purchases of wool are for speculation, nearly three quarters being at Boston alone and the aggregate was 8,733,800 pounds at the three chief markets, 5,610,000 of foreign wool. Domestic wool is still held at relatively high prices at the west.

Failures for the week have been 216 in the United States, against 217 last year, and 24 in Canada, against 24 last year.

OVERPOWERED THE MILITIA.

A Mob Lynched a Mississippi Negro and Beat Another.

JACKSON, Miss., June 26.—A negro named Moseley, who killed Farmer John Strong near Crystal Springs, Miss., has been hanged by a mob there. The negro had been guarded by 100 armed men and two calls for troops from this place had been sent, but owing to the absence of Governor McLaurin and the fact that it was impossible to establish communications with Lieutenant Governor Jones, they did not start in time.

The guard was overpowered by a mob of 200 or 300 men, mostly farmers, and Moseley taken from the jail and, with a rope around his neck, was dragged through the streets to a tree near the railroad and hanged. He was dead or nearly so when they reached the place of hanging. He confessed before the mob got him.

The mob then started on a search for a negro preacher who had sworn that the murderer had spent the day on which Mr. Strong was killed at his house and knew he (Moseley) was not the guilty person. He swore to a deliberate lie, and the mob caught him and gave him an unmerciful whipping for false swearing.

AN AMERICAN VICTORY.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 26.—Cornell won; time, 20 minutes and 34 seconds. Yale was second by three lengths and a half; time, 20:44. Harvard came in third five lengths astern of Yale; time, 21 minutes.

American grit, American methods and American training won the day as against American grit coupled with English methods and English training. Cornell's crew of American college youths trained under an American coach won from Yale and Harvard crews in an eight-oared contest, the two other crews having studied, Yale under an American coach using the English stroke and Harvard under an English coach with an English stroke.

After the race the Cornell crew were taken on board their launch, which steamed proudly across to the boathouse, where a crowd of 2,000 men, women and boys had assembled and were waving flags, handkerchiefs and pieces of bunting. The oarsmen had to fairly fight their way through the mob into the boathouse. Once inside they were surrounded by undergraduates, and the enthusiasm knew no bounds. Coach Courtney and his men were overwhelmed by telegrams of congratulations from all parts of the country. There could be no relaxation in the training of the crew, as their superb strength must be maintained for the race with Pennsylvania and Columbia, so the men sat down to the training table as though they had just come in from an ordinary practice row.

Members of the Yale and Harvard crews fainted from exhaustion.

MAY SUE ROCKEFELLER.

He Is Accused With Not Living Up to a Contract

DULUTH, June 26.—The Rockefeller syndicate, which holds a lease of the Lake Superior group of mines, owned by Wellington R. Burt and Ezra Rust of Saginaw and others, has been served with a formal notice that it is not complying with the terms of the contract inasmuch as it is making no effort to make the mines profitable.

It seems that Rockefeller asked the owners for a reduction in royalties. They agreed to do so if he would cut the rate on ore on his railroad. He refused and shut down the mine. The properties are worth $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 and the lawsuit which is imminent will be a big one.

HURLED INSINUATIONS AT QUAY

An Exciting Scene In the Pennsylvania House at Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, June 26.—An exciting scene has occurred in the state house of representatives, in which some strong insinuations were hurled at Senator Quay.

The senator was here last week and framed revenue measures to help the bankrupt state treasury. Previous to this bills to increase the tax on the license of brewers, etc., and their product had gone through the house, but were very suddenly knocked in the head, after going through the senate.

The bill making a general increase in licenses of brewers, distillers wholesalers, bottlers, etc., was defeated by a vote of 65 yeas to 92 nays. These measures were originally known as the "bliss beer bills, but they were changed almost out of recognition by the senate finance committee.

Mr. Lytle (Huntingdon) in defending the measure said that last Friday when the legislators went to their homes they could not tell their constituents how the deficit in the state treasury was to be wiped out. But when they returned Monday they found that one man had been here. He had smote the rock with his wand and revenue gushed forth to relieve the charities of the state.

Mr. Voorhees (Philadelphia) who sits across the aisle from the Huntingdon member, looked up from the paper he was reading and smiled.

Mr. Lytle took offense at this and said: "The gentleman from Philadelphia, who is reading the paper, need not laugh, for but a few years ago he would have concurred in this sentiment by standing up and clapping his hands."

Mr. Voorhees said: "The genrl man from Huntingdon goes out of his way to besmirch the gentleman from Philadelphia. He has the unfortunate habit of allowing his tongue to run away with his judgment. If it had not been for this defect the gentleman from Huntingdon would now be occupying the chair which you, Mr. Speaker grace with such ability. As regards Senator Quay, when he is right I follow him; when he is wrong I am against him. Mr. Quay, who is the political mentor of the gentleman from Huntingdon, is not my ruler.

"I am as good a Republican as the gentleman from Huntingdon, and I am desirous that sufficient revenue be raised to care for every charity in the state. Why, if Senator Quay is anxious to raise revenue, did he not have the beer bills pass the senate? It has been hinted about that it was because of an agreement between certain gentlemen holding high and honorable positions in the United States senate with the brewers' trust."

Mr. Lytle said he had not mentioned Senator Quay's name in his remarks, and explained that he had no intention of trying to besmirch the Philadelphia gentleman.

WOOL SCHEDULE COMPLETED.

The Senate Also Finishes the Silk and Tobacco Schedules.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The senate has completed the wool schedule, the silk schedule and the tobacco schedule of the tariff bill, and with this accomplished the tariff leaders have the satisfaction of knowing that all the schedules of the bill and the free list have been gone over once. There now remains only to go through the bill a second time, passing on the items passed over. These are very numerous and important, including, hides, gloves coal, tea and beer. After that the internal revenue features of the bill will be all that remains.

Progress was rapid, although every paragraph relating to carpets was stubbornly contested. The consideration of the silk schedule led to a strong contest against the proposed duties on silk fabrics, Senators Teller and Mantle joining with the Democrats in opposition. The paragraph was passed by the slender majority of 2. The tobacco schedule went through with little friction after the committee had advanced the duty slightly on wrapper and leaf tobacco.

To Settle Union Pacific Matter.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The senate committee on Pacific railroads has agreed to report favorably the resolution introduced by Senator Harris of Kansas expressing the sense of the senate that the United States should redeem the Union Pacific railroad from prior liens and take steps to foreclose the government mortgage.

New Minister to Peru.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The president has sent the following nomination to the senate: Irving D. Dudley of California to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Peru.

No Change In Headquarters.

COLUMBUS, June 26.—Since the triumph of Senator Hanna in getting control of the Republican state central committee, the Cleveland people have taken a notion that the state headquarters are to be removed from here to that city. But this is a mistake. A. C. Caine, who knows pretty well what are considered Mr. Hanna's intentions, states that the headquarters will remain in Columbus.

A Silver Writer Dead.

DENVER, June 26.—Thomas Buchanan has died here. He wrote a small volume on the silver question which was widely distributed during the last presidential campaign.

Many Buildings Damaged.

RICH HILL, Mo., June 26.—A tornado that struck the northern portion of this city did damage amounting to thousands of dollars. Many buildings were damaged.

Patriotism and Ignorance.

Tommy—Isn't it funny, ma, how ignorant it makes a man when he gets to be a patriot?

Ma—Why, Tommy, what gave you that idea?

Tommy—Why, ma, didn't the lecturer say last night that the man who is a patriot should know no north nor south nor east nor west?—Richmond Dispatch.

An Improvement.

Art Dealer—The perspective is very fine. You'll observe how it removes objects in the background to a wonderful distance.

Connoisseur—If it could only remove the objects in the foreground to a wonderful distance, don't you think the picture would come nearer to perfection?—Boston Transcript.

What Lincoln Had Learned.

Mr. Albert Blair, writing in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat about President Lincoln, remarks especially upon his unaffectedness, and in so doing relates a story which may prove an encouragement to readers who have sometimes found themselves ignorant where they had supposed themselves well informed.

In February, 1865, Mr. Blair was present at a White House reception, a general reception, open to everybody. Mr. Lincoln was attended by Judge David Davis, who took the names of all comers and introduced them to the president.

Of course there was a crowd, and nobody had time for more than a word and a handshake. Mr. Blair was presented to the president, and then stepped aside to watch the show. Mr. Lincoln and Judge Davis carried on a conversation, constantly interrupted though it was.

"Now," says Mr. Blair, "it was 'How do you do, colonel?' or 'My brave boy' (this to a young soldier) or 'I am glad to see you,' or some other phrase of cordial recognition."

There was no official starch, but what especially impressed Mr. Blair was a remark made by Mr. Lincoln in a perfectly matter of fact, unaffected tone, loud enough to be heard by many of the bystanders.

"Judge," said he, "I never knew until the other day how to spell the word 'maintenance.'" Here a hand interrupted him. "I always thought it was m-a i-n, main, t-a-i-n, tain, a-n-c-e, ance, maintanance, but I find it is m-a i-n, main, t-e, te, n-a-n-c-e, nance, maintenance."

J. A. FLYNN TALKS.

The Well-Known Salesman of the "Bee Hive" Unbosoms Himself About a Personal Matter.

A sales man with thirteen years experience and ten of it in the "Bee Hive" has had ample opportunity to study human nature. No one knows better how to handle a customer than the up to date retail employe behind the counter. No one knows better just at the crucial point how to drive home argument that clinches a sale.

Mr. J. A. Flynn of 38 North Grant Street is a salesman in the "Bee Hive". If that gentleman lived in Nevada or New Hamshire we might save you the trouble and time of perusing his statement for 'far off birds have fair feathers' but as he is a reliable and well known citizen you can't afford to throw his opinions and advice to the winds. Read what he says:- "My father died with disease of the kidneys, and for the past five or six years I have been inclined to think that I have inherited it, for my kidneys have been troubling me for that length of time. My back ached a good part of the time, and was always aggravated when I caught cold or stood on my feet all day during the busy hours. Often sharp stitches attacked me especially right after I had retired for the night that felt as if some one had given me a sharp blow across the loins, and accompanying this there was a uriuary weakness. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Baltzly's drug store and since taking them all symptoms of the old complaint have passed away. One box did all I could ask for and I can heartily recommend the remedy for kidney troubles". Some time when you are in the Bee Hive and have your back aching so badly that you don't care if you get what you want or not your main thoughts are to get home and into some easy position, it would be a favorable time to ask Mr Flynn what he thinks of Doan's Kidney Pills, what he tells you can be depended upon.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50. By mail on receipt of price, by Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

The remains of the man who was killed on the Ft. Wayne road at Louisville, last Tuesday night, have been identified as those of Joseph Zimmerman, of Salem. He had been working for a steel roofing company in Canton, and was trying to board a freight train when he met his death. No blame is is attached to railway employes.

Harry A. French, who was at one time station agent of the Pennsylvania railway company in this city, and who has been freight agent in Canton for the past fifteen years, has been promoted. He is to be agent of the Union line of the Pennsylvania railway company, and will have the management of a large freight business. His successor has not yet been appointed

The district convention of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held at the First M. E. church in this city on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 29 and 30. On Tuesday evening the address will be given by Mrs. Dr. Mills, wife of a former pastor, and on Wednesday evening by the Rev. Dr. Oldham, of Delaware university.

The conference between the conference committee of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and the manufacturers of the Mahoning valley and the other western iron districts will be held in Youngstown on Wednesday, June 30. This date was decided upon Monday morning by President Garland and a representative of the Manufacturers' Association. The wage scale which is now in vogue expires on June 30, and it is reported that an unusually strong effort will be made to arrive at a settlement on that day in order to avoid the usual annual shut down.

THE [illegible]

One of the [illegible] club land, who [illegible] are somewhat [illegible], recently expounded [illegible] with [illegible] results to her friend, who was bewailing the loss of a friend

"Death," said she, "is nothing but transition. There is no occasion for so much grief and fear."

"Yes, ma'am," agreed the maid, with a fresh outburst.

"When we die," continued her mistress smoothly, "it is only part of the process of evolution. We wake up to another life; that's all."

"It's in heaven we'll be waking up," sobbed the freckled one, "with angels and harps and"—

"What nonsense!" corrected the clubwoman, with a pitying smile. "The next life will be just like this one. All things prove it You and I will be doing there all the things we do here."

But the maid had dropped the apron from her tear stained visage and was gazing at her comforter with every sign of righteous indignation.

"Is it working out in service you think I'll be?" she demanded.

"Precisely," rejoined the evolutionist, "but you'll probably be doing it rather better, you know."

"Well, if you think I'm going to heaven to wait on you, you'll find yourself mightily mistaken," gasped the irate handmaiden. "I'd rather stay out of it. So you'd better supply yourself with another girl to train up for the next world."—New York World.

I feel better now than I have for years. I am now 81 years of age. Yours. D. G. MARTIN.

GUARDS THE FRONTIER

The Picturesque Horseman Who Patrols the Rio Grande.

ON THE LOOKOUT FOR SMUGGLERS.

Sometimes He Finds Them, and Shooting Matches Ensue—A Life of Danger and Hardship—Chances to Make Money—Peculiar Methods of Some Smugglers.

Any active courageous man who wants a nice job with plenty to do should go down to Texas and hire out as a river guard on the Rio Grande. It will be his duty to prevent smuggling along a shallow and traitorous stream for something like 1,000 miles. The pay will be $30 a month, and he must furnish his horse. He will get one hour's sleep each week, and the chance is that he will be shot before his term expires. While he is alive he will be allowed to board himself and pay his own doctor's bills. In addition to this he will have the satisfaction of serving his country and the knowledge that he can no more stop smuggling than he can fly.

The life has its compensations, of course. A man is in the open air. The climate is balmy. He is much looked up to by dwellers along the banks. There is always some Mexican girl to love him because he wears a six shooter. If his scruples be not rigid, there is constant opportunity to make money.

This is done by being somewhere else when goods are crossed. Many river guards have grown wealthy. This is particularly true of those on the Mexican side. There is, for instance, a heavy Mexican tariff on American cattle. It is a kind of retaliatory duty. The Mexican populace loves beef, of which it does not get any too much. If a Texas stockman desires to make an honest dollar by exporting 1,000 head and he can find the right kind of a guard on the other side, why, he will make the honest dollar. The guard will make several honest dollars.

The United States government has never yet succeeded in preventing smuggling and the importation of Chinamen along the Canadian frontier. It has had equally bad luck along the Mexican frontier. Both are boundaries that would be only partially guarded by 10,000 men each It is safe to say that many hundreds of Chinamen cross the Rio Grande into Texas and New Mexico every year. As for the smuggling of cattle and merchandise to and fro, there is no way in which to get at its exact amount, but its sum total is enormous

The river guard is generally a picturesque animal. Almost always he is young and sometimes he is good looking. His horse is fat and speedy. His saddle, weighing 30 pounds, is bedizened. The small gold plates attached to his bridle reins near the bit flash in the sun. He wears a crimson scarf about his waist. He calls this a "banda" and uses it to keep up his tight trousers. His short jacket has metal buttons, and his hat, of the high, wide brimmed Mexican brand, is trimmed with silver braid. Around his middle is a broad belt holding cartridges, and from it swings a colt's revolver. Under his right knee nestles a winchester carbine. One would suppose that a less conspicuous dress would conduce to efficiency and safety, but with the river guard efficiency and safety do not count for anything against looking pretty. He does not reflect that few corpses are attractive. His calculation is that it is the other fellow who is going to get hurt

With all his vanity, he is vigilant and constantly moving. He makes long and lonely rides along the yellow river night and day. If he encounters a band in the act of crossing, he has a fight on his hands. Single guards have been known to fight and put to flight bands of a dozen smugglers. They have been known also to be killed. When this happens, a sudden splash in the stream closes the chapter. One of the hardest riders, gamest fighters and most keen scented officers ever upon this frontier was Trinidad Cruz, but nobody knows where Trinidad's bones are now. He disappeared about a year ago, and two days afterward his horse was found grazing upon the prairie with a blood stained saddle turned under him.

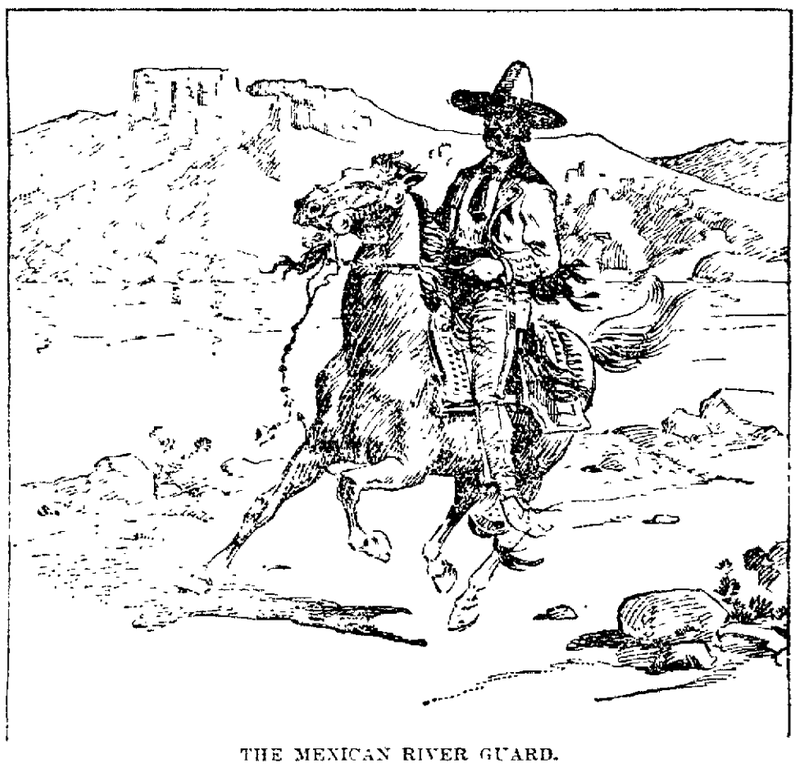
Occasionally the river guards make queer discoveries. Some time ago a party of them was watching the Espentosa crossing. No smugglers came, but one of them found a well defined trail leading away from the river in a southeasterly direction. It grew very faint and made several bewildering turns, but they were skillful at work of the kind and did not lose it. It brought them finally, after a ride of four miles, into some rugged hills not a great way from the river. In the side of one of these hills, half way to its summit, a "dugout" had been made. Its entrance was most artfully concealed by bushes that had been trained to grow over it. The chamber, whose walls were partly lined with rocks, was very dry. It was 16 feet by 12, and the ceiling was 8 feet high. It was more than half filled with goods, some of which evidently had been there for some time.

These goods, as their character showed, came from [illegible]. They included silks from France, suitings from England, much cutlery from that country and from Germany and cases of French and Mexican brandies and wines. One lot of value was a box containing an exceedingly fine set of surgical instruments. A great part of the goods was composed of silken underwear, masculine and feminine. There was an array of fancy penknives. Item, a handsomely mounted and elegantly mapped globe of the world, made of bronze and hand painted; item, a small but powerful telescope; items too numerous to mention. The goods were taken, of course, and held for duty. No owners have appeared, naturally enough, as an appearance would be tantamount to jail. The value of the capture will reach nearly $5,000. It is a heavy blow to some speculative citizens on the other side.

No branch of smuggling is more active than the illegal crossing of liquors. Mescal, aguadiente, tequila, pulque, vino dulce and brandy, all grown and made in Mexico, are seductive drinks and very cheap. If they can be brought in safely, large returns are realized. The subterfuges are many. Recently one of the most ingenious was brought to light. A Mexican man or a woman would appear at this end of the international bridge bearing a two or three gallon stone jug with a corncob stopper in its mouth. Being asked by the customs officer what the jug contained, he or she would reply "Molasses." Removing the stopper, the officer would see molasses. Inserting his finger first into the jug and then into his mouth, he would taste molasses. The Mexican would pass on. Suspicion was aroused by the steady procession of jugs and consequent heavy importation of molasses. Our neighbors were overdoing the thing. Closer investigation revealed the secret. The jugs were filled with mescal to the bottom of the neck. Then a tightly fitting stopper was driven in down to the liquor. On top of this molasses was poured and the outer stopper inserted. Some hundreds of dollars were cleared in this way.

Roentgen Rays a Detective.

According to the Journal de Medicine de Bordeaux, a man by the name of Ferdinand, placed under arrest for illegal practice of medicine, claiming to be a graduate of an American college, presented a diploma which excited the suspicions of the magistrate. Calling in the services of an expert, the document was submitted to the action of a Crookes tube, and the result showed distinctly the outlines, in the substance of the paper, of a name which had been erased from the surface to make room for that of "Dr. Ferdinand," who was held upon this evidence.



THE MEXICAN RIVER GUARD.

A NOBLE CABBY.

No one seems to care what is the other name of Georges, the cabby who has just been decorated with the ribbon of the Legion of Honor, but all Paris is talking of his bravery. This young man—he is only 35 years old—was one of those plebeians who proved their nobility during the fire in the Rue Jean-Goujon, when ablebodied members of the aristocracy were trampling on women and falling over one another in their efforts to get to a place of safety.

Public opinion demanded signal honors for all who were instrumental in saving life in the panic in the charity bazaar. The government could decorate only one, and the choice fell on Georges. He was made a knight of the Legion of Honor. His brave comrades were awarded gold medals for distinguished courage. It is equally to the credit of Georges that he bears his honors with much self depreciation and of his fellows that they display no jealousy that the decoration went to him.

CHEVALIER GEORGES.

Georges, before his heroism directed public attention to him, was a livery coachman out of work. He is no longer a liveryman, and he is no longer out of employment. His burns in any case would have disabled him for his former occupation, but he is past seeking a place on the box. The minister of finance has given him a receivership, which he may retain as long as he wants it.

Stung to Death by Bugs.

Charles Price, a farmer, was at work in his potato patch killing the beetles on his plants when a swarm of bugs lighted on his face and hands and stung him to death, says a dispatch from Jeffersonville, Ind.

Rough on the Fireman.

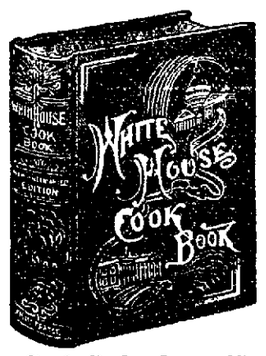
TWO GREAT BOOKS. . . . .

The Independent Company considers itself very fortunate in being able to offer as premiums to subscribers the books described below. They will be furnished on the following terms:

The White House COOK BOOK

THE BEST COOK BOOK PRINTED.

It more fully represents the progress and perfection of the culinary art than any previous work.



The "WHITE HOUSE" was compiled by Hugo Ziemann, steward of the White House under President Harrison, and Mrs. F. L. Gillette. It contains over 1,600 Cooking Recipes, besides recipes for toilet and household. Special articles on buying provisions, dinner giving, table etiquette, carving and care of sick.

A novel and most important department consists of carefully prepared Menus for Breakfast, Luncheon and Dinner, complete for one week in every month of the year.

Size 8 x 10 x 2. Cream white enamel cloth binding, illuminated title stamp, large type, wide margins, complete indexes, 570 pages, illustrated.

IN point of authorship, it stands preeminent. Hugo Ziemann was at one time caterer for that Prince Napoleon who was killed while fighting the Zulus in Africa. He was afterwards steward of the famous Hotel Splendide in Paris. Later he conducted the celebrated Brunswick Café in New York, and still later he gave to the Hotel Richelieu, in Chicago, a cuisine which won the applause of even the gourmets of foreign lands. It was here that he laid the famous "spread" to which the chiefs of the warring factions of the Republican Convention sat down, in June, 1888, and from which they arose with asperities softened, differences harmonized, and victory organized.

Mrs F. L. Gillette is no less proficient and capable, having made a life-long and thorough study of cookery and housekeeping, especially as adapted to the practical wants of average American homes.

The work is embellished with fine portraits of all the ladies of the White House.

The book has been prepared with great care. Every recipe has been tried and tested, and can be relied upon as one of the best of its kind. It is comprehensive, filling completely, it is believed, the requirements of housekeepers of all classes. It embodies several original and commendable features, among which may be mentioned the menus for the holidays and for one week in each month in the year, thus covering all varieties of seasonable foods, the convenient classification and arrangement of topics; the simplified method of explanation in preparing an article in the order of manipulation, thereby enabling the most inexperienced to clearly comprehend it

The subject of carving has been given a prominent place, not only because of its special importance in a work of this kind, but particularly because it contains entirely new and original designs, and is so far a departure from the usual mode of treating the subject.

Interesting information is given concerning the White House; how its hospitality is conducted, the menus served on special occasions, views of the interior,

The binding being of enamelled cloth it can at any time be readily cleaned and made to look bright and fresh by simply rubbing it off with a damp cloth or sponge.

The Daily three months and the White House Cook Book, $2.50.

The Semi-Weekly for one year and the Cook Book, $2.00.
